

Job Title: Community Research Assistant – Tiohnhehkwa Project Team

Duration: 10 weeks (Starting from June 1)

Location: Kahnawake Collective Impact

Description:

We are seeking a motivated and enthusiastic individual to join our team as a Community Research Assistant for a 10-week project focused on evaluating the community's perspective on food sovereignty. The successful candidate will be responsible for gathering information from community members regarding their involvement in agriculture practices such as gardening, raising chickens, and other related activities. The primary objective of this research project is to assess the current status of food sovereignty within the community and identify areas for improvement or support.

Responsibilities:

- Conduct door-to-door surveys and interviews with community members to gather information on their involvement in agriculture practices, including but not limited to gardening, chicken raising, and other food production methods.
- Compile and organize data collected from surveys and interviews in a systematic manner.
- Collaborate with the project team to analyze and interpret the collected data to assess the community's perspective on food sovereignty.
- Assist in the preparation of reports and presentations summarizing the findings of the research project.
- Maintain clear and effective communication with project supervisors and team members throughout the duration of the project.
- Adhere to project timelines and deadlines to ensure timely completion of tasks and deliverables.

Qualifications:

Strong interpersonal and communication skills, with the ability to engage with diverse community members in a respectful and culturally sensitive manner.

- Excellent organizational skills and attention to detail, with the ability to manage and organize large amounts of data efficiently.
- Self-motivated and able to work independently with minimal supervision.
- Prior experience in conducting surveys, interviews, or community-based research projects is preferred but not required.
- Knowledge or interest in food sovereignty, agriculture, and community development issues is an asset.
- Must be available to work full-time for the duration of the 10-week project, starting from June 1.

Application Process:

To apply for this position, please submit a resume and a brief cover letter outlining your interest in the position and relevant experience to info@kahnawakestrong.com. Applications will be accepted until May 24th, 2024. Only shortlisted candidates will be contacted for an interview.

We thank all applicants for their interest in joining our team and contributing to this important research project.
