

Tewatohnhi'saktha's Workforce Development Team

Your Journey to Success Starts Here

The Workforce Development team strives to provide you with the most up to date labour market information, and to ensure that your journey along your chosen career path is both a gratifying and rewarding one.

Roiahtate Horn – Workforce Development Counseling Services Manager

In June 2018, Roiahtate began his career at Tewatohnhi'saktha as the Youth Engagement Counselor; and has since been promoted to Workforce Development Counselling Services Manager. Roiahtate oversees the counselling team at Tewatohnhi'saktha and implements strategic initiatives to the community, while also providing counselling to clients looking to enter vocational or academic programs. He assists clients with job preparation activities such as mock interviews, resume or cover letter writing, and help with job search. Roiahtate also assists businesses or organizations coordinate workshops and events to educate groups to learn about career exploration and vocational opportunities. The counselling team participate in these events and activities and lend their support to the participants.

Email: roiahtate.horn@kedc.biz

Emily Rice – Youth Engagement Workforce Development Counselor

You may have seen Emily in a couple of different roles since she began her employment with Tewatohnhi'saktha in 2018, she was hired as the Client Support Clerk and quickly moved to the role of Youth Engagement Workforce Development Counselor. Emily develops, plans, and implements youth engagement projects by collaborating with community organizations. Emily's goal is to provide plenty of engaging activities to keep Kahnawà:ke youth on track to a bright career path. Emily also provides academic, vocational and career counseling services to her youth clients as a Workforce Development Counselor.

Email: emily.rice@kedc.biz

Bradley Cross – Workforce Development Counselor

In 2019, Bradley worked as the Youth Programs Assistant as a summer student and enjoyed his time at Tewatohnhi'saktha and decided to apply for the position of Client Support Clerk. After a year of working as the Client Support Clerk, he decided to apply for the Workforce Development Counselor role and has held that job since 2020. Bradley works with clients by assisting with their funding applications for vocational programming or those hoping to complete their secondary credits. He also helps clients with job search, resume writing and other counselling processes to help Kahnawake:ronon along their career path.

Email: bradley.cross@kedc.biz

Rachel Leborgne – Client Support Clerk

Rachel began her position as Client Support Clerk in February 2021. She works directly with Workforce Development clients, tracking progress and providing support where needed. Her regular communications with clients and students will ensure successful completion of a client's programs and long-term success. In addition to being responsible for client intake, Rachel follows up with clients for one year after completion of their program to track their progress.

Email: rachel.leborgne@kedc.biz

